Hill Critic Praises Charlatans' Play; Lauds Woodman

By John Morris

Eric Selch's set, nearly Shakespearean in its use of a curtained room at the rear of the stage to solve the production problems this play poses, accommodated an able cast in the Charlatans' production of Darkness at Noon in Commons last night.

It was an ambitious undertaking, both artistically and mechanically, and one in which both cast and stage crew succeeded.

Play Wrong

If anything is wrong in this year's spring production, it is the play itself. It is nearly impossible, I think, to make a convincing situation as foreign to us as that with which this play deals. The opponent of this point of view can find examples which do not bear me out. But the author of Darkness At Noon is no Shakespeare.

There will be two more performances of the Charlatans' production DARKNESS AT NOON in the Hall of Commons, tonight and Saturday at 8 a.m. The College Community is invited to attend. No admission will be charged.

The characters, though, could be believable, and thanks to the acting, they were. Bill Woodman is excellent as Rubashov, the old-line Communist who cannot decide whether his reluctance to save his own life by a dummy confession and trial which could return him, purged and reinstated, to active Party life is due to the strength of his opposition to the Party or to his wish to avoid the humiliation of public trial.

Freyss Acts Well

Davd Freyss as the interrogator Ivanoff, an old friend of Rubashov, is good, but not as good as Woodman. It is partially Rubashov's discovery of the execution of Ivanoff, who has been sympathetic with him, that leads him to the brink of his decision concerning the confession. Reminders of his mistress, Luba, played by Betty Williams, and of her death, which the sadistic investigator Gletkin harps upon, drive him over that brink. Dave Grinwis, who became a member of the cast only

Professor Shute To Direct Choir, Utica Singers In Oratorio Sunday

By Dan Fulmer

The entire talents of Hill musicians and singers will be joined with those of the Utica Oratorio Society this weekend in the highlight of the College's musical year—the annual oratorio.

The two groups, in addition to many well-known soloists and musicians from New York City, Syracuse, Rome and other areas will present Mendelssohn's "Elijah" in the gymnasium on Sunday afternoon at 4 p. m.

Hamilton's Professor of Music, Berrian Shute, will direct the concert, as he has done in past years. Mr. Shute has organized an orchestra of forty to perform the "Elijah" music. Included in this orchestra are Mort Gluck, trumpet; Eric Selch, double bass; Tom Bridges, flute; Roger Renner, violin; Professor Harvey Cameron, cello and Harry Wadsworth, trombone.

The combined singing groups consist of 140 voices, including almost 60 Hamilton Choristers. John Baldwin, College organist and instructor in music, has directed the Hill Choir in their part, while Mr. Shute has led the Utica Oratorio Society and the two groups together. Mr. Shute has urged all Hill singers and musicians to attend the final rehearsal in the gym tomorrow afternoon.

The list of guest soloists is a distinguished one, Sara Carter,

Untippable Stone Still Gets Abuse

By Tom Raynor

Rumor has it that there is to be published a pamphlet entitled 101 Different Ways to Deface the Oneida Academy Monument. Foreseeing such an event, freshman Ben Dyke is taking all precautions possible to insure his speedy withdrawal from the campus to avoid repercussions.

Dyke, you will recall, claimed in a recent article that the famous monument, situated between the Chapel and South Dorm, had been made "untippable" by being set in a cement base.

A day or so after the appearance of the article, there was smeared on the monument, in red paint, the following inscription: "If you can't tip it, paint it?" (Why the question mark, no one knows.)

A turpentine stain now marks the space the inscription occupied, and General Burton and his staff are awaiting further developments with baited breath.

Meanwhile, campus pranksters ponder diabolic schemes for revenge, and writer Dyke, who boasted of an "untippable" stone, remembers a boat called the "unsinkable" Titanic.

North Village To Go; Students Can't Wed?

North Village is on its way out—finally.

President Robert McEwen announced this week that the converted army barracks, which have served as living quarters for the families of married students and faculty, will soon disappear from the Hamilton campus.

Four of the fourteen temporary buildings are to be removed from the campus by June 7. They will be sold, if possible. The remaining ten will be torn down or moved away within the next three years.

Whitcombe Tapped

Peter Whitcombe, a sophomore from Rochester and a member of Sigma Phi, was tapped for membership in Was Los, junior honor society, after Chapel yesterday. Whitcombe, who was recently named Business Manager of the Publications Board, is the last of the six sophomores whom the society elects each spring.

Reid, Bates, Ibach, Saunders Elected

By Dave Dickens

Charlie Bates, Al Saunders, John Ibach and Irv Reid were elected yesterday to the Student Council for next year. Bill Skinner was elected as the student member of the Athletic Advisory Council.

Bates, a Sigma Phi, will represent the Class of 1953 on the Council. He has been a member of both D.T. and Was Los, and was recently appointed Associate Editor of the Spectator. Several weeks ago he was elected President of the Chapel Board. Bates is also Co-captain of the swimming team.

Saunders A Buffer

Treasurer of TKE and secretary of the S.C.A., Al Saunders will be the Junior Class member of the Council. Saunders also sings with The Buffers.

The sophomore representative will be John Ibach, an Alpha Delt. He served as President of the Freshman Class this year and is a member of the basketball team and the Chapel Board.

Representative-at-large will be Irv Reid, ELS junior. This will be Reid's second year as a Council member. He has also served as a class officer, a member of the Honor Court, and he has held membership in D. T. and Was Los. The track team's number one man in the 440, Reid was recently elected Chapel Board Secretary.

Athletic Advisor

Sophomore Bill Skinner of DU, a member of the football team, D.T., and the Chapel Board, will be next year's student representative on the Athletic Advisory Council.

This year's Student Council President, Bill Schwarz, has asked all members of the group, both old and new, to meet Monday evening.

Critic To Lecture In Chapel Friday On Modern Poets

By Stuart Shelby

Lloyd Frankenberg, critic and poet, will lecture in the Chapel next Friday at 8 p. m. His topic will be "A Critic Looks at Modern Poetry."

Modern Poetry

Mr. Frankenberg is the author of Pleasure Domes Reading Modern Poetry. In this book, he explores the potentialities of pleasure in modern poetry. While discussing thirteen representative moderns, he shows that the reading public that avoids poetry is missing something of great value. "Unhappily," says Mr. Frankenberg, "today our hearing of poetry is restricted." He proves that "modern poetry is intelligible," and that the poets he considers have achieved unique effects of "immediacy." Mr. Frankenberg believes that modern poets have perfected a marvelously sensitive instrument.

In connection with the book Pleasure Dome, Mr. Frankenberg, through Columbia Records, has issued "an audible anthology of modern poetry read by its creators," which supplements the author's presentation through the printed word. The long playing record has the same title as

Tolles Commends Blood Bank Drive

All who participated in the Blood Bank drive on Thursday merit high commendation. In originating the idea of Hamilton participation and in carrying through on the plans, Was Los acted in the finest traditions of a Hamilton honor society. Don Grant, in particular, devoted many hours, much effort, and not a little worry to the project. Its success should have rewarded him many times over.

Our students were enthusiastic in volunteering, faithful in keeping appointments, and business-like in their cooperation with the workers. Much credit should also go to the faculty wives who gave so generously of their time. The cooperation of the local Red Cross workers was excellent and the same may certainly be said for Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt, who presided over the kitchen at the Alpha Delt house. All this added up to a project which, in the words of the Red Cross director was "not ninety-nine, but one hundred percent successful."

The charge is launched (too often with justification) that college men today are irresponsible and unaware of their responsibilities to the world outside their immediate interests. The performance of Hamilton students in connection with the Blood Bank, however, is direct and heart-warming evidence that college students can and will realize and assume their responsibilities. Perhaps this old world will not be in such sorry shape when it falls into their hands.

Once again—to all concerned with the Blood Bank drive—a sincere and hearty, "Well done."

Blue Lacrossemen Conquer Cortland

Led by Captain Charlie Reach's six goals and four assists, which broke the Hamilton record for points per game for an individual, Coach Panatier's Continental lacrosse team defeated Cortland Teachers by a 12-5 count before a cheering house party crowd on the local field last Saturday. Reach, in scoring on six of eight shots, increased his 1952 goal total to seventeen, for a 5.67 goal average per game.

The Hillmen took a 7-0 lead in the first period and were never headed. Cortland scored three of their five goals in the final five minutes of the last period, after Panatier had cleared his bench. Of the six Hamilton goals not accounted for by Reach, Frank Birdsall scored three, and Pete Wood, Jim Brown and Bob Maider got one each. As a unit the Continental attack tallied on eight of eighteen shots for a phenominal .444 average.

This Saturday on the local field, the stickmen will engage a powerful Kenyon College team. Last season the Ohio team won eight of twelve contests and the Ohio state title. This will be their second contest in two days, as this afternoon they met Hobart at Geneva.

Hill Golfers Edge U. Of Rochester

By John Ibach

Sporting an undefeated record after its first two matches, Hamilton's golf team left this morning for contests with Union College this afternoon and R.P.I. tomorrow morning. Monday afternoon the Continentals play their second home match of the season against Utica College. In their first meeting two weeks ago at Twin Ponds, Hamilton defeated Utica decisively.

Last Saturday afternoon on the local course, the Continentals won a disputed 5-4 victory over a strong University of Rochester team. Both Rochester and Hamilton have claimed the victory for the match. The argument arose because Rochester's captain agreed to play off any match ending in a tie. If this had not been agreed upon, the points would have been split for the two matches that eventually finished in ties. This would have resulted in a Rochester victory.

However, keeping their previous commitment and playing off the two tie matches, the Rochester team lost both playoffs, resuling in a 5-4 win for Hamilton. After the playoffs were over and Hamilton was declared the winner, Rochester claimed that it was not legal by college rules to agree to the playoff, thereby, as far as Rochester is concerned, nullifying the Hamilton "victory."

Hill Trackmen Beat Hartwick, 72-54; Egner Leads Scorers

The Hamilton College track team proved to be exceptionally strong in the field events as they defeated Hartwick College by a 72-54 score last Saturday on the Hamilton oval. Co-Captain John Egner led the Continentals with a double win. He won the shot put with a heave of 44 feet ¾ inches and the discus with a throw of 132 feet one and ¾ inches, only two feet short of the Hamilton record.

Wheeler Wins

Carl Wheeler won the high jump for the second week in a row by scaling the bar at five feet six inches. Hamilton's other two victories in the field events were scored by Bob Olwine and Paul Noyes. Olwine won the broad jump with a leap of 20 feet 10 and ¾ inches and Noyes, who was in a three way tie for pole vault honors, went over the bar at ten feet six inches.

Smith Impressed

The Coninentals did not fare so well in the track events, as only two Blue runers scored victories. Dick Gummerlock won the half mile in the very respectable time of two minutes six sec-

Hill Nine To Play Statesmen Here; Downed Rochester

By Ron Krauss

Hamilton's baseball nine swings into weekend action with a return game against the Rochester Yellowjackets at Rochester today, and follows up against Hobart here tomorrow. The Continentals are looking for their third win of the year today, with Bill Galvin attempting to repeat his 6-0 shutout over the Yellowjackets. Coach Greg Batt plans to start either Comer Coppie or Bill Cline against Hobart tomorrow.

50th Meeting

The Continentals - Statesmen battle tomorrow will be the 50th meeting since 1880. In the games played to date, Hobart holds a 28-21 edge in games won. The Statesmen won two from Hamilton last year by scores of 5-4 and 19-9. Coach "Spike" Garnish has a Hobart squad which is unbeaten in college competition this year. The Statesmen have outslugged Syracuse 13-7, LeMoyne 14-6, and Niagara 24-7 thus far. Hobart's infield, ranging from first to third, will include Berkeley, Dingle, Mulleavey and Chodack. Jones, Shantz, and Bramley will patrol the outfield, and Michels will catch.

Galvin Hurls Shutout

Last Saturday, Bill Galvin blanked Rochester with a slick five-hitter. Hamilton made their own breaks with daring baserunning, plus a couple of timely hits. Rog Wood led the attack with two hits in three attempts, one of them a homer, and two RBI's. The Continentals delighted the houseparty gathering with two steals of home, and a total of eight stolen bases.

this week, plays Gletkin, and does it very well, especeially in the last act when, as the untiring interrogator, he overcomes the exhausted Rubashov.

Flash-backs Good

The flash-backs were remarkaby well handled, as I have mentioned. But besides mechanical excellence involved, these scenes were the occasion of some good acting, especially on the part of Dan Fulmer.

The only actor who seemed below standard was Theodore Davis, who, as prisoner 402, was out to lunch during most of the play. Even he, however, did well in certain scenes, especially in a couple which involved his saying things which would, I think, cause either a leer or a blush in most speakers.

The directors, Tom Raynor, Jack Brownfield and Dave Grinwis, also deserve much credit for their fine job.

Hancock To Speak On Hill Thursday

John M. Hancock, recently elected chairman of the Board of Lever Brothers Company and a trustee of Hamilton College, is coming here to lead a discussion on free enterprise in the Psi U hall next Thursday at 8 p.m. The topic of the discussion is "Free Enterprise—A Basic Part of the American Way."

Hancock is a partner of Lehman Brothers, and since 1948 has been the chairman of the Executive Committee of the Jewel Tea Co. He is a director of the Korger Company, Underwood Corporation, the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company, and Bond Stores.

In 1939 Hancock served on the War Resources Board. In 1946 he was the alternate to Bernard Baruch as United States Representative on the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission.

He will begin the discussion with a short talk in which he will express his own views on free enterprise. Students will then question him in an effort to determine the individual's place in America's increasingly complex society.

Tomorrow afternoon the cindermen travel to Ithaca for a meet with Ithaca College. Ithaca is reported to be on a par with Hamilton, and condition and depth will be the deciding factors.

Baseball . . . Cont.

Ben Merrick's infield hit led to a first inning run, as he stole second, went to third on the overthrow, then stole home. Two more runs were scored in the third by virtue of an error, two steals, and successive singles by Calkins and Wood. A double steal and error let two more in before Wood, who leads the club in hitting with a .585 average, cracked a homer to complete the scoring.

Scherer To Speak

Reverend Paul Scherer, Professor of Homiletics at Union Theological Seminary in New York, will be the Chapel speaker this Sunday.

Hill Tennismen Tie Utica Y; Beat Union

Last Saturday, in an informal team match, an underdog Hamilton tennis squad battled the Utica Y.M.C.A. to a 5-5 draw.

The match, scheduled to fill in a house-party vacancy, and to give Hamilton valuable experience, was not an official match and will not go into the records. The Y team was composed of former college players who have had many years experience on the courts. Vin

On Wednesday, in the first of seven matches to be played in the next eleven days, the Continentals defeated Union, 7-2. This week-end the Hillmen meet Hobart and Rochester in home matches.
